Hsuan-Hua Huang

1 Brookings Dr, St. Louis, MO 63130 h.hsuan-hua@wustl.edu
+1-314-250-7475 Personal Website

Education

Washington University in St. Louis, Ph.D. in Economics	2020 - present
National Taiwan University, MA in Economics	2015 – 2018
National Chengchi University, BA in Economics	2007 – 2012

Research Interest

Economics of Education, Labor Economics, Environmental Economics, and Applied Microeconomics

Publication

- Windfall Gains and Stock Market Participation: Evidence from Shopping Receipt Lottery, with Tzu-Chang Forrest Cheng, Tse-Chun Lin, Tzu-Ting Yang and Jian-Da Zhu, Journal of Banking and Finance

Working Papers

- When Perception Meets Reality: Ability Gaps, Belief Updating, and Track Choice in High School Transitions, Job Market Paper
- Unpacking the STEM Gender Gap: Evidence from Taiwan, with Ian Fillmore, Hao-Chung Li, and Hsienming Lien, R&R at Journal of Human Capital
- Liquidity Constraints, Cash Windfalls and Entrepreneurship: Evidence from Administrative Data on Lottery Winners, with Hsing-Wen Han, Kuang-Ta Lo and Tzu-Ting Yang, Under Review

Work in Progress

- Centralized College Choice and Risk Aversion of Application: Evidence from Taiwan General Scholastic Ability Test
- Do Fines for Refusing Breath Tests Reduce Drunk Driving? Evidence from Taipei City Police Statistics
- Cash for Habit: Evaluation of a Smart Energy Saving Project in Taiwan
- Does Being Wealthy Make You Donate? Evidence from Lottery Winners in Taiwan, with Hsing-Wen Han, Kuang-Ta Lo, and Tzu-Ting Yang
- Windfall Gains and Housing Allocation: Evidence from Lottery Winners in Taiwan, with Tzu-Chang Forrest Cheng, Tzu-Ting Yang, and Jian-Da Zhu

Awards

- Charles Leven Memorial Prize, Best Second-Year Paper 2023
  Decomposition of Gender Gap in STEM Program: Evidence from Taiwan General Scholastic Ability Test
- Teaching Assistantship Award in National Taiwan University 2016-2018

Conference and Seminar Presentations

Annual Conference of the Population Association of Taiwan(2024), International Symposium on Econometric Theory and Applications(2024), and Taiwan Economics Research(2024).

Employment Experience

Research Assistant, Tamkang University 2019-2020

- Integrated NHI claims with tax/land/construction registries to build person–household panels.
- Engineered income, property, and utilization variables; documented linkage/quality control and drafted policy.

Research Assistant, National Taiwan University; National Central University; Academia Sinica 2018-2019

- Linked Taiwan Economic Journal (TEJ) + administrative data to build investor-level panels.
- Led identification strategy with robustness/placebo checks; maintained a reproducible Stata workflow.

Civil Servant, New Taipei City, Economics Develop Department, Green Industry Section 2015-2016

- Drafted energy-transition self-governance regulations
- Executed a $10 million smart energy-saving project
- Partnered with Taipower to collect and analyze electricity-usage data

Personal Insurance Representative, Farglory Life Insurance Inc. 2011-2013

- Analyzed the characteristics of clients and organized the data sources

Teaching Experience

Teaching Assistant, Washington University in St. Louis

- Microeconomics(Master's program), Fall 2022, Fall 2023, Fall 2024, and Fall 2025
- Development Economics, Spring 2023
- The Economics of Criminal Justice, Spring 2022
- Introduction to Microeconomics, Fall 2021

Teaching Assistant, National Taiwan University

- Principle of Economics, Fall 2016, Spring 2017, Fall 2017, and Spring 2018 (Class size: 200 and evaluation over 4.8/5.0 each semester)

Software and Skills

Stata, R, MATLAB, and QGIS

Language

Mandarin (Native), English (Fluent)

References

Ian Fillmore
Associate Principal
Charles River Associates
ianfillmore@gmail.com

Martín García-Vázquez
Assistant Professor of Economics
Washington University in St. Louis garciavazquez@wustl.edu

Ping Wang
Professor of Economics
Washington University in St. Louis
pingwang@wustl.edu

Andrew Jordan
Assistant Professor of Economics
Washington University in St. Louis
awjordan@wustl.edu